HANDLING ALL ASPECTS OF TRIAL LITIGATION Serving clients with serious litigation needs, Ware, Jackson, Lee & Chambers, L.L.P. represents individuals and organizations involved in disputes headed toward trial or arbitration. From initial pretrial investigation to final appeal, Ware Jackson represents its clients in every stage of civil litigation. The firm's exclusive focus on adversarial proceedings has yielded extensive experience trying significant cases—experience which is useful when important cases can be settled and essential when they must be tried.

BOTH SIDES OF THE DOCKET Ware Jackson handles litigation at trial and on appeal for both plaintiffs and defendants in commercial, construction, environmental, insurance, personal injury, oil and gas, telecommunication and transportation matters.

The firm handles cases that involve breach of contract, fraud, disputes over business structure, professional malpractice, employment, toxic torts, property contamination and a host of other subjects. Clients include insurance carriers and policyholders, oilfield operators and mineral interest owners, businesses, consumers and many others.

WHEN THERE ARE TRIALS IN YOUR FUTURE, WE HAVE THE EXPERIENCE TO HELP YOU.

HIGH LEVEL OF SERVICE AND FLEXIBLE FEE STRUCTURES "When you hire us, you get a lot of attention from the senior lawyer on the case," explains lead partner Don Jackson. The majority of Ware Jackson's partners are board-certified trial or appellate specialists. As a small firm, Ware Jackson is able to provide high-level service to all of its clients, with particular emphasis on interaction between the firm's most experienced lawyers and client representatives. Recognizing that litigation costs are a business issue, Ware Jackson offers innovative fee structures that include hourly and contingency arrangements.

SIZE AND COMPLEXITY OF CASES "I don't think there are a lot of law firms out there trying as many serious cases as we are," notes Jackson.

Much of the firm's experience is with complicated litigation that involves numerous parties, extensive discovery and voluminous document management. Whether in state or federal court, Ware Jackson manages lawsuits from the beginning, but is no stranger to parachuting into matters on the eve of trial. Ware Jackson can handle complex litigation matters alone, in conjunction with in-house counsel or as partners with outside counsel.

Ware Jackson has the right mix of legal talent and actual trial experience to achieve outstanding results.
